PROFILE SUMMARY

I am a student of Industrial Automation Engineering at Politeknik Negeri Bandung (Polban), I have a great enthusiasm for exploration and innovation. I enjoy working in teams and finding new ways to solve challenges, whether in the world of business, technology or education. My interest in these three fields encourages me to continue learning, developing, and creating added value through productive collaboration. With a passion for learning, I am ready to develop my skills and contribute to projects that require a fresh and creative approach.
